Mortgage Interest Deduction at Risk?

Congress, as part of negotiations on avoiding the "Fiscal Cliff," has made direct references to "closing loopholes" and "limiting deductions" as a way to raise revenues. Clearly, the mortgage interest deduction is high on this list of revenue raisers.

Losing the Mortgage interest deduction will disproportionately affect the middle class because a larger proportion of the middle class takes the deduction. In California 89% of those who took the mortgage interest deduction earned less than $200,000. Losing the deduction would cost the average California taxpayer over $3,900.

The C.A.R. IMPAC Trustees recently published a media campaign on protecting mortgage interest deductibility. See page 5 to view the Open Letter to President Obama and the U.S. Congress, which addresses the importance of mortgage interest deduction to homeownership. The letter was published during the Fiscal Cliff discussions of late December 2012 in major newspapers throughout the state.

What you can do to help:

Call your member of Congress between 6 a.m. and 3 p.m. PST to let them know that limiting the MID impacts ALL homeowners, not just those who take the deduction, by decreasing the value of all housing. Every REALTOR® needs to respond and make the call TODAY. Please note this number is for REALTORS® ONLY.

BARRON INSTALLED AS 2013 PRESIDENT

SHARON BARRON URGED TWO DIVERGENT GENERATIONS OF REALTORS TO BRIDGE THE GAP BETWEEN EXPERIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY AS SHE WAS SWORN IN RECENTLY AS THE 93RD PRESIDENT OF THE SOUTHLAND REGIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS.

Realtor Roger Hance, who will serve as the Association's president-elect, and the entire 2013 slate of officers and directors took the oath of office at inaugural ball.

The 2013 Board of Director also includes: Robert Banuelos, Tom Carnahan, Ana Maria Colon, Gina Covello, Winnie Davis, Wendy Hale, Loren Hansen, Debbie Hawkins, Jeff Kahn, Bob Khalsa, Rana Linka, Bud Mauro, Alice McCain, Gaye Rainey, Nancy Starczyk, Dan Tresierras, Nancy Troxell, Gina Uzunyan, Gary Washburn, Chris Williams, and Pat "Ziggy" Zicarelli.

Surrounded by her family and friends, Barron, who has been a member of SRAR since 1989, singled out young, tech-savvy real estate professionals for their "special way" of doing business, noting that "they are the future of the profession and have so much to offer."

She urged veteran Realtors to reach out to young pros with the intention of "helping them get involved in joining our leadership team"

Barron reminded young Realtors that experience matters, and that there is much to be learned from professionals who have dedicated their careers to real estate.

"So, let's see if together we can bridge any gap to bring technology and experience together," Barron said. "You will find great satisfaction and fulfillment in doing so." Barron praised the Association's chief executive officer, Jim Link, for forging the over 9,000-member organization into one of the largest and strongest associations in the nation. She also thanked Wendy Hale, last year's president, forher dedication.

Hale noted in her closing remarks that 2012 saw residential real estate begin its full-fledged recovery after years of devastating decline, while the Association completed a long list of projects, including development of a free public program designed to quickly settle real estate disputes, and ongoing support for a local charity that aids homeless women and children.

Multiple elected officials or their representatives were on hand to congratulate Barron for being selected to lead SRAR, and to praise Hale for a year filled with many accomplishments. Special guests included Los Angeles City Councilman Mitch Englander, L.A. City Attorney Carmen Trutanich, Wendy Gruel, L.A. City Controller, Jeffrey Prang of the L.A. County Assessor's office, and representatives of L.A. County Supervisor Michael Antonovich and U.S. Congressman Brad Sherman. MORTGAGE INTEREST DEDUCTIBILITY

An Open Letter to President Obama and the U.S. Congress

Dear Mr. President and Members of Congress:

While "home is where the heart is" for millions of American families, it also is where our nation's economic recovery resides. That is why we oppose any proposal that eliminates or attempts to alter in any way the mortgage interest deduction, as it undermines a century-old commitment to the American Dream of homeownership.

As you know, current law permits homeowners to deduct interest paid on mortgage debt of up to $1 million on a primary residence and one additional residence, as well as interest paid on up to $100,000 in home equity loan debt. In California, 59 percent of taxpayers who claimed this deduction in 2010 had an annual adjusted gross income (AGI) below $100,000, and 89 percent had an AGI of less than $200,000.

While current discussions involve reducing the limit to $500,000 for a primary residence and eliminating it entirely for second homes, any attempts to reduce the mortgage interest deduction would not only have deleterious effects on homeownership, but also be tantamount to taking the first step toward a wholesale elimination of this long-standing deduction.

The mortgage interest deduction makes a substantial difference for lower- and middle-income families. If the deduction is taken away, it would cost the average California taxpayer $3,940 annually; further, more than 694,000 California households would no longer be able to afford to buy a median-priced home.

Eliminating the mortgage interest deduction would have immediate and dire consequences. It would slam the brakes on America's economic recovery by changing the fundamental economics of homeownership for more than 75 million Americans and slow or even reverse recent home price gains.

Homeowners – many of whom lost upwards of 50 percent of their equity during the recession – likely would see home prices decline once again. First-time homebuyers would be forced to delay a home purchase that no longer "pencils out." Fewer home sellers and buyers mean fewer home loans, not to mention the other purchases that typically accompany a home sale. Already struggling local governments would see tax revenues fall. And since housing is widely regarded as a key economic driver, as these repercussions occur, our country would face the prospect of being plunged back into a recession.

In high cost areas such as California, the damage would be even worse. California homeowners would lose $356.8 billion in potential tax savings, and the recent recovery in home prices would be jeopardized. The state also could realize a loss of more than 40,000 home sales over time, which would cost the California economy $2.4 billion in lost output.

Merely reducing the amount of the mortgage interest deduction allowed wouldn't be any less damaging. The tax liability for more than 1.19 million primary or secondary homeowners would be negatively impacted if the deductible interest were limited to $500,000. Furthermore, should the mortgage interest deductibility be eliminated for second homes, the potential economic losses to the California economy would total more than $557 million.

How do your constituents rate the importance of homeownership and the mortgage interest deduction? In a recent survey by the CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS®, 79 percent of home buyers said that mortgage interest and property tax deductions were "extremely important" in their decision to purchase a home. A Pew Research Center study last year found that 80 percent of Americans believe buying a home is the best long-term investment they can make – despite the real estate downturn.

We're asking the public to visit www.KeepTheMID.com to learn how they can contact their member of Congress and ask them to protect the mortgage interest deduction.

Finally, as you put into place fiscal policies that will guide our country for generations to come, we urge you to remember the wise words of President Franklin D. Roosevelt: "A nation of homeowners is unconquerable." May that tenet continue to hold true.

Sincerely,

President

Oon Faught

Audits by the Department of Real Estate

2013 Risk Management Committee

An internal directive has been issued by the California Department of Real Estate ("DRE") to begin conducting broker office surveys. These surveys, which are effectively an audit of the brokerages activities and files, are schedule to commence in early 2013. The broker office surveys will involve unannounced and unscheduled visit to brokers' offices at which time the DRE will ask to see records from random transactions. Amongst other things, the DRE is expected to investigate transaction files, trust fund handling, record keeping methods, and a host of the procedures and documents.

While it has always been a good idea for a real estate brokerage to have an outside source conduct an Advisory Audit of its policies and files, given the aforementioned internal directive by the DRE, it is particularly advantageous to have such an audit this year.

In addition to checking a broker's trust fund records and trust log, an independent Advisory Audit can also provide quidance with regard to DRE record retention rules. It is important that the brokerage properly maintain transaction files and follow the rules relative to electronic file storage. There are mechanisms for converting paper files to electronic files. and then destroying the originals, but such actions should be handled properly to avoid potential regulatory and civil risks.

Since Standard Forms used in real estate are constantly changing, an Advisory Audit can also verify that the brokerage is using the most current forms available and can provide a list of recommended forms for the various types of real estate transactions.

In addition, an independent audit could review agent personnel files to verify that the Independent Contractor Agreements and related Addendums are in compliance with current law and provide protection for the brokerage as well as its agents.

With all the various forms of insurance needed to effectively run a real estate company, an Advisory Audit can provide important information regarding available sources of Errors and Omissions Insurance, General Liability Insurance, Worker's Compensation Insurance, and the all too seldom purchased Employment Practices Insurance.

All brokerages should have an Office Policy Manual and all agents should have a copy of this Manual. The Advisory Audit can review your current Office Policy Manual and make any appropriate recommendations for updating or revising said Policy Manual.

Recently, Senate Bill 510 was passed pertaining to the Appointment of Branch Managers for a brokerage with multiple offices. There are specific procedures and forms recommended for usage that would assist the Responsible Broker in properly supervising the operation of the company. An Advisory Audit could provide recommendations in this area as well.

In addition to the above, an Advisory Audit could provide guidelines for compliance with the Federal Do Not Call law, Fair Housing Compliance Issues, required Sexual Harassment training and other matters relating to the day to day operation of the brokerage. While such an Advisory Audit cannot assure a brokerage that it is fully protected from risks related to the areas reviewed, it can certainly help management to more successfully manage the risks and resulting hardships related to the areas being reviewed. In adsition to minimizing risk, an Advisory Audit can maximize both the efficiency of the brokerage as well as the quality of services that brokerage provides to its agents and clients. This is a great example of the axiom that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.
