REALTORS HONORED FOR AIDING HOMELESS MOTHERS, CHILDREN

The Hope of the Valley Rescue Mission recently honored the Southland Regional Association of Realtors Charitable Foundation for helping to fund a home that provides a new beginning to hundreds of mothers and their children.

SHARON BARRON, PRESIDENT OF THE ASSOCIATION, ACCEPTED THE HONOR ALONG WITH FOUNDATION VICE CHAIR, JIM EZELL, PICTURED ON THE LEFT. HOPE OF THE VALLEY PRESIDENT AND CEO KEN CRAFT IS ON THE RIGHT.

"SRAR's Charitable Foundation was the leading primary sponsor of Hope of the Valley's Genesis House, which offers housing to the most vulnerable portion of the homeless population — moms and kids," Craft said. "The Foundation is a generous community partner of the Mission, advocating on behalf of all people needing housing." Hope of the Valley awarded SRAR with the Genesis House Partner of the Year Award for contributions made by the Foundation in 2012.

Barron and Ezell noted that the Association and its charitable Foundation are committed to the communities they serve, holding numerous fund-raising events that benefit dozens of local charities. In addition, the Foundation has granted over $100,000 collectively to dozens of first-time homebuyers and ffor free educational seminars and offers free educational seminars and resources to prospective buyers and homeowners struggling to hang on to their homes.

More than 250 people attended the April 20 Hope of the Valley's "New York in the Valley" dinner and auction, which was held on a New York street movie set on the backlot of CBS Studios in Studio City. It raised $65,000. Hope of the Valley also honored Community Bank, Garden Christian Fellowship, and Kaiser Permanente Hospital for helping the hungry and homeless, and generosity, action, and leading the way with innovative solutions to end homelessness.

The Mission serves 92,000 meals a year and provides 25,000 nights of shelter. Still, the need is overwhelming, with 30 to 40 people turned away each day. Craft noted that 2012 was a year of tremendous growth and expansion at the Mission, with three new facilities opened.

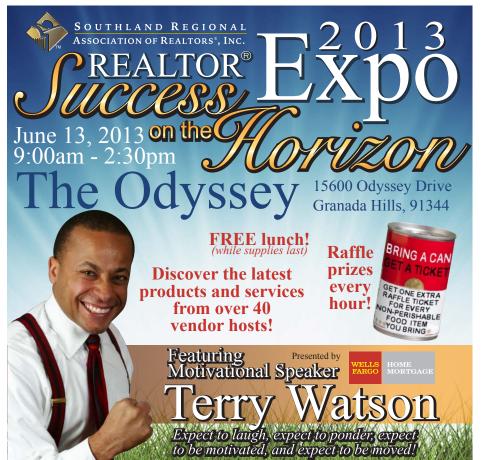

"Through our partner agencies," he said, "we now offer our guests all the resources they need to end their homelessness.3

Craft urged everyone to get involved at Hope of the Valley Rescue Mission. Call the Mission to set up a tour or write via email to ken.craft@hopeofthevalley.

Conduct a food or clothing drive. Donate household items for pickup. Offer business expertise. Serve on the Board of Governors. Be an advocate. Just get involved!

NEW LANDLORD DISCLOSURE REQUIREMENTS

By: Jeffrey E. Lerman of Spile, Leff & Goor, LLP Submitted by Steve Spile, 2013 SRAR Risk Management Committee

Imagine this scenario: your client is a prospective tenant and is looking to rent a residential dwelling of between 1 to 4 units. Your client completes the rental application, provides the landlord with a security deposit and begins his tenancy. Within a month or two of moving in, your client receives notice to vacate from someone claiming to be the new owner. Upon investigation, you discover that the landlord with whom your client entered the lease agreement failed to inform you or your client that as the rental application was being completed, he had already received a Notice of Default ("NOD") and was facing a foreclosure sale. Now the successful bidder at the foreclosure sale wants to move in and your clients are forced to leave. Ouch.

In response to this predicament, the California Legislature recently enacted Civil Code Section 2924.85 which provides that landlords must provide prospective tenants with a specific notice if that landlord has received an NOD. Beginning January 1, 2013 and continuing for the next five years, every landlord who offers to rent a single-family dwelling, or a multifamily dwelling not exceeding four units, and who receives an NOD on a mortgage or trust deed secured by that property, must disclose in writing the existence of the NOD to any prospective tenant.

A landlord who fails to so inform the prospective tenant may be forced to pay the greater of one month's rent or twice the actual damages to the tenant. Further, the tenant shall be able to recover all prepaid rent and will have the election to void the lease.

Tenants typically face several risks associated with leasing a property where the foreclosure process has begun: (1) Tenants often experience decreased services from landlords facing financial difficulties such as non-payment of utilities and/or not making repairs; (2) If there is a foreclosure, tenants face a great amount of uncertainty, and they may be unaware of the protections guaranteed them under state and federal law; (3) Even with protections, the lease may be invalidated, for example, by the new owner wanting to move in; and (4) It can be very difficult for a tenant to recover a security deposit after a foreclosure.

As with any new legislation, there are some exceptions in the new law. For example, the notice requirement does not apply to existing tenants and does not require disclosure by landlords of multi-unit apartment complexes which feature 5 or more units.

Another change affecting landlords and tenants is found in Civil Code Section 2924.8. Existing law provides that a tenant of a property posted with a Notice of Sale (NOS) is to be given a notice that the new owner after the foreclosure sale may enter into a new lease or rental agreement or must give a tenant a minimum 60-day notice to terminate. Beginning on March 1, 2013, the new owner will now be required to give a tenant in a foreclosed property a minimum 90-day notice after the sale to terminate. This change in the notice requirement is set to remain in effect until December 31, 2019.

This code section would also require the new owner must honor the lease unless the new owner will occupy the property as a primary residence or in other limited circumstances.
