"SIGNS, SIGNS, EVERYWHERE THERE'S SIGNS"

BY JOEY LEWIS — DIRECTOR, MEMBER & COMMUNITY RELATIONS SOUTHLAND REGIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS®

Signs of an improving market are all over the place – including the numerous open house signs you see on every street corner each weekend. While we all want to see the return of a good market, seeing multiple signs on one street corner obstructing walkways, etc. can become somewhat of a nuisance. But who regulates these signs? And who do you contact when they become a problem? Do you call your local Association? No! The City of Los Angeles (311) actually regulates the usage of signs in public areas, including open house signs. SRAR does not have any authority to enforce any such regulations for real estate signage in public areas.

In fact, according to Section 28.04 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code, placing handbills or signs in any public area of the City is actually against the law. But don't panic just yet! According to Gary Harris, (Chief of Investigation and Enforcement for the City of Los Angeles, Bureau of Street Services), the City of Los Angeles entered into an agreement with California REALTORS® in the early 90's that allows REALTORS® the privilege of placing signs in public areas as long as they agree to abide by certain rules:

- 1. All agents placing signs in public areas adjacent to any other private or public property MUST obtain permission from that property owner prior to placing their signs.
- 2. Signs must NEVER be placed in areas that obstruct vehicle or pedestrian traffic, including roadway medians, or in areas that block access ramps for the disabled.
- 3. Signs must be displayed in a considerate manner that does not clutter walkways, public easements, street corners, etc.
- 4. All signs MUST be removed immediately following the close of the open house.

The City of Los Angeles, according to Harris, would like to continue the cooperative working agreement it has with the REALTORS® of Los Angeles. However, complaints have started to come in on a pretty regular basis.

Therefore, Harris has requested that local Associations within the City of LA help spread the word about the importance of respecting the City's cooperative agreement it has with the REALTOR community regarding public signage. If the above guidelines continue to be misused and complaints continue to filter into the City, the law could be enforced that would not allow signs in public areas at all.

We don't want that to happen. So do your part and be sure to follow the above guidelines when placing signs in public areas. If in doubt, just don't do it! Be respectful of not only your fellow REALTORS®, but also the community in which your signs are placed. Be sure to get proper permission before placing your signs. And by all means, remove your signs at the end of the day. If we all do our part, we can ensure that the cooperative agreement we have with the City onsigns in public areas continues.

NOTE: The above information pertains to the public display of signs within the City of Los Angeles ONLY. Different cities, like Santa Clarita, West Hollywood, Beverly Hills, and Burbank, have their own regulations on this issue. Be sure to check with the City in which you are placing signs to be sure you are following the law accordingly.

POCKET LISTINGS

HERB LAMBERT, PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

HERB LAMBERT HAS BEEN A VALUABLE PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS COMMITTEE MEMBER FOR OVER 25 YEARS.

We've been in a Sellers' Market for several months and listings are "golden." They're so valuable that it's especially tempting to try to double "pop" the listing you just got or are going to get before other agents have a chance to show it or even know about it. Haven't you seen other agents do that and asked, maybe I should, too? Before you advise a seller to give you a "pocket listing" or try to sell your listing without putting it into MLS, it would be wise to consider what truly is in the seller's best interest and whether or not you could defend your actions if that seller makes a claim against you if the property sells for below market value.

Pocket listings are an issue that is attracting a lot of attention from C.A.R., and rightfully so. After all, Article 1 of the Code of Ethics requires Realtors to protect and promote the interests of the client as their primary duty, and California law imposes on agents an "obligation of undivided service and loyalty" to the client, and forbids agents to use their position to their own advantage.

In April, 2013, C.A.R. Legal published a Q & A about Pocket Listings which can be found at http://www.car.org/legal/mls-folder/PocketListings/

I strongly recommend that you read the article but here are some of its salient points:

"Although pocket listings are legal they raise a number of legal and practical issues."

While there may be some sellers who opt for limiting the marketing of their property by not placing it in the MLS based on a desire for privacy or concerns about vandalism or theft, the upside of a pocket listing for the broker is clear, especially the broker's ability to earn both sides of the commission. As a precaution, the listing broker should be able to articulate why the seller chose to do a pocket listing in case there is a future claim by the seller that the broker violated their fiduciary duty by placing his or her desire for a higher commission above the client's best interests. That claim could result in a lawsuit, a Realtor Association ethics violation, and MLS violation and discipline by the BRE with the possibility of loss or suspension of one's real estate license.

The C.A.R. Q & A article also describes how a pocket listing could create a risk of a fair housing violation even if there is no intent to discriminate, if for example, the location of the property is in an area that is predominately made up of a certain racial or ethnic group and all of the advertising is directed to that group, resulting in a sale that reinforces the racial/ethnic character of the neighborhood.

As of July 29, there is a new C.A.R. Residential Listing Agreement that devotes almost an entire page to inform the seller of the benefits of using the MLS and the impact of opting out of the MLS. That portion of the new page requires initials of the seller and broker. You should use the CAR form "RLA Revised 7/13" to be in compliance with the current standard of care.

Perhaps the old "Golden Rule" is the simplest guide for handling your next listing: "If you were selling your own house and wanted to net the most money from the sale, would you want only one broker to know that it's for sale or would you want as many brokers as possible with potential, qualified buyers to be aware of it? In this past year alone, how many times have you been surprised by a house selling for a much higher price than what you had anticipated? It's really just a matter of "doing the right thing."

Please refer to the following for more information:

THE AGE OF SMART HOMES

BY JOEY LEWIS — DIRECTOR, MEMBER & COMMUNITY RELATIONS SOUTHLAND REGIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS ${\bf \textcircled{R}}$

What is a smart home? The very thought conjures up flashbacks of science-fiction and futuristic ideals as seen in The Jetsons. But what exactly does it mean to have a "smart home?"

Believe it or not, the idea of having an automated home system has actually been around since 1975. But advances in technology and wireless communication have made this service almost immediately available for anyone. A smart home is essentially a home that connects electronics, heating and air, entertainment and security systems, and cameras to one central device that can be controlled from any room or anywhere in the world via the Internet or phone.

No longer are the days that smart homes are only available for the wealthy. Nowadays, smart homes can be installed in one day. First, a central device is installed in the home. Then, any electronics that you wish to control via the central device are plugged in through a special adapter that communicates with the device. Security systems and cameras are usually proprietary to the smart home service provider and installed specifically to communicate with their central device. Similarly, smoke detectors and thermostats that are to be controlled through the smart home device will need to be compatible with the provider's service and may need to be specially installed.

Once installed, home owners can control everything from the lighting to the temperature of their home from practically anywhere in the world. Some smart home providers can even allow you to connect your entertainment systems where you can program to have your favorite song play for you the minute you walk in the door.

Through the camera systems, home owners can view just about any area of their home – inside or out – at any time from anywhere. Ever wonder what your pets do all day long when you're not home? Now, with the touch of a button, you can check in on them at any time.

Smart homes are no longer just a futuristic ideal or a science-fiction invention. Smart homes are a reality and within reach for anyone with a modest budget.

Most Internet and cable or satellite provides offer smart home services. However, some of them do have limitations in what they are capable of doing. So shop around if you are interested in finding out how to turn your home into a smart home!
